The exhibition featured the collage photography of Dr. Jeffrey Ribner, a local photographer and neurologist. His particular fields of interest have been classical architecture and harbor views of the sea. His favorite cities to photograph are downtown Binghamton, Boston's Back Bay, and The Loop in Chicago.

Dr. Ribner switched to digital photography in 2006, but still misses the feel of "pockets full of used and unused photographic film". He is a devoted fan of the Canon camera, never having been comfortable with anything else.
